
Title: Humility

HUMILITY

Humility is a virtue than even the most respected people do not attain, this is the knowledge of one's place in the realm;
reached through the
understanding of the sanctuary of all beings. It is best represented by the humbleness of the Shepherd, who day in day out goes about his business without ever obtaining a word of glamour or praise from a single soul. The famed city of Magencia lays claim to its Black hued
shrine which lies in an island near Hyloth dungeon. In Fell side the shrine turns a
shade of white,
which makes for a
very fascinating color.
This is the only
Virtue that does not have a dungeon.

The humble soul has gained the most important insight that a soul can gain: the insight of its limitations, and that it is in no way better than others that surround it. The humble soul is always aware that the impression it has on the world is never

complete. It will act according to this insight, and be cautious before making any use of it's knowledge, knowing that it might not be accurate. The humble soul always listen to reason, to complete it's own impression of the world, and it never seeks fame or fortune, for it hath understood that these do not create
happiness.
